My goal...a career in advocacy

The Career Center clarified so much of the confusion that consumed the job seeking process.

Monis Khan, who will graduate in May 2011 with a major in English literature and minor in writing, was awarded the Gephardt Social Change Grant, through which he was able to travel to Karachi, Pakistan.

Getting to know myself...
Washington University has all the resources to transform ideas into living, breathing, significant contributions to the world.

Receiving the Gephardt Social Change Grant allowed me to travel to Karachi, Pakistan. There, I coordinated and led the Karachi Creative Arts Initiative, serving and teaching more than 50 impoverished, local students.

Bringing my story to life...
My experience in Karachi taught me to take a step back and feel comfortable not understanding. Embracing what you don’t know enables a genuine learning experience in which you can provide what the community itself demands on its own terms. You can’t empower people. You can only create the conditions by which they can empower themselves.

Up next... I hope to be an advocate on behalf of the silenced, a practitioner for the disenfranchised.

FROM PASSION SPRINGS PURPOSE
"Don’t count yourself out."
Monis’ career tip

>70%
More than 70 percent of students with job offers used the Career Center.

THIS WEEK’S OPPORTUNITIES
Citigroup
L’Oreal USA
Express Scripts, Inc.
Genentech
WUSTL: Alumni & Development
St. Jude Medical
Environmental Protection Agency
Black & Decker
McMaster-Carr
Goldman Sachs
AT&T
General Electric

EVENTS
Winter Parties
New York City, Washington, D.C.
Careers on Capitol Hill - Alumni Panel
Career & Internship Connections (CIC) Career Fairs
Boston, Chicago, Los Angeles, New York,
Washington, D.C.
Chicago Talent Summit

For more information visit our website careercenter.wustl.edu