TOMORROW’S VISION + TOMORROW’S LEADERS

Ethics. Integrity. Level-headedness. Collaboration. These qualities are exemplified by students like Anna Applebaum, a senior majoring in the Interdisciplinary Project in the Humanities and French. Anna worked to increase youth civic engagement this summer and currently serves as the Washington University Political Review co-editor-in-chief.

> READ MORE AT CAREERCENTER.WUSTL.EDU
Tomorrow's vision requires tomorrow's leaders.

Students at Washington University in St. Louis focus on teamwork and collaboration across academics and activities. Many courses are structured around team projects—a proven way for students to learn to work effectively and productively with others.

There are more than 300 campus organizations, allowing students to better develop their leadership skills, including:

- American Institute of Graphic Arts
- Habitat for Humanity
- Model United Nations
- National Society of Black Engineers
- Student Investment Fund
- Student Union
- Women’s Leadership Training Institute
- UNICEF

Furthermore, 68 percent of Washington University students participate in community service.

We are happy to help you develop a customized recruiting strategy to enhance your hiring efforts. Please contact us for information about the tools available to you, including:

- Career fairs
- On-campus and virtual information sessions
- On-campus and virtual interviews
- Resume collections
- Engagement with student organizations
- Road shows
- Speaking opportunities and panel discussions

call 314-935-9005 or visit careercenter.wustl.edu